Q1. Read the following passage and make notes in an appropriate format: (15)

The Voice had to be listened to, not only on account of its form but for the matter which it delivered. It gave a message to the country that it needed greatly. It brought to the common people a realization of their duty to concern themselves with their affairs. The common, people were made to take an interest in the manner in which they were governed in the taxes they paid in the return they got from those taxes. This interest in public affairs - polities as you may call it - was to be the concern no longer of the highly educated few but of the many - the poor, the propertyless, the workingmen in town and country. Politics was not to be the concern of a small aristocracy of intellect property of the masses. And with the change in the subjects of politics that Voice bought about also a change in the objects of polities. Till then politics had busied itself mainly with the machinery of Government towards making its personnel more and more native, with proposals for a better distribution of political power, with protests against the sins of omission and of commission of the administration. This Voice switched politics on to concern for the needs of the common people. The improvement of the lot of the poor was to be the main concern of politics and the politician. The improvement, especially of the lives of the people of the neglected villages, was to be Placed before Governments and political organizations as the goal of all political endeavour. The raising of the standard of living of the people of the villages, the finding of subsidiary occupations which would give the agricultural poor work for their enforced leisure during the off season and an addition to (heir exiguous income, the improvement of the housing of the poor, the sanitation, of the villages – these were to be the objectives to be kept in view. In the towns, the slums and cherries were to receive especial attention. There was especially a class of the poor for which that compassionate Voice pleaded and protested. This was for the so-called depressed class, the outcastes of Hindu society. The denial of elementary human rights to this class of people it considered the greatest blot on Hindu society and history. It raised itself in passionate protest against the age-old wrongs of this class and forced those that listened to it to endeavour to remove the most outrageous of them like untouchability. It caused a revolution in Hindu religious practice by having Hindu temples thrown open to these people. It made the care of them a religious duty of the Hindus by re-naming them Harijans.

I never need to convince my parents. If you are good at study, nobody will tell you to stop playing.

Q6. Write a composition of 250-300 words based on any one of the following pictures.

d) Family in a park.

This is a family visit to a park. There are four members of a family, a father, a mother and two sons. They are holding their hands to each other. The father with ~~their~~ younger son and the mother with <sup>is also</sup> their elder son. Elder son holding his younger brother.

They are happily walking around the park. They are enjoying the green environment along with the sounds of birds inside the jungle. This kind of visit to a green environment with family makes you feel happy and would be a great benefit for mental and physical health. Getting out of polluted and dusty city environment to a green and peaceful environment would be a great achievement for some days.

It would be a family time, sharing each others feeling and getting close with kids. It gives some time to your family member to create intimacy and love which is not possible other time due to you busy business schedule.

Looking on the picture, I feel like the father is me with my two sons and wife visiting our nearby forest at Gokarna. We recently visited the jungle during Dashain. The park (jungle) opens only for four days each year during dashin time from Fulpati (Saptami) to Tika (Dashami) for worshiping Devi temple in the jungle. We all four visited on Nawami. It was happy time, walking slippery uphill due to rain, worshiping devi and returning back the next way though golf pitch, playground and golf resort.
